Build Skills with FREE Online Courses

Here are a few sites to explore online learning opportunities. CareerLink does not endorse, and is not affiliated with these sites. They are sites which may provide useful information if you want to expand your computer skills.

▶ The GCF site offers help for learning Microsoft Office, Typing, Basic Math and Reading, and Email/Computer Basics among other subjects. They have over 125 free tutorials.

www.gcflearnfree.org

▶ Since 2001 Sense-lang has been providing a free, unique, user-friendly typing course. You can also test your typing speed.

www.sense-lang.org

▶ This Irish site, Alison, provides a variety of free user-friendly courses in many subject areas.

www.alison.com

▶ Founded by Harvard University and MIT in 2012, edX is an online learning destination and MOOC provider, offering high-quality courses from the world's best universities and institutions to learners everywhere.

www.edx.org

▶ The Berkeley site offers Microsoft Office tutorials and tutorials in Graphics applications and different Computer Platforms.

www.lib.berkeley.edu

▶ Lynchburg College offers tutorials in Microsoft products, Front Page, Access, and many others.

www.officetutorials.com

▶ Khan Academy offers tutorials to help in Mathematics and many other subjects including Economics, Art History, and Test Prep. The math tutorials were the first courses this site offered and they cover everything from the most basic to extremely advanced areas of mathematics. Many schools use this site to help their students learn.

www.khanacademy.org

▶ Coursera is where you go to access free online college courses from 120+ top universities and educational organizations. They partner with schools like Stanford, Yale, Princeton, and others.

www.coursera.org

▶ Ted Talks is a site for a wide variety of brief talks on interesting ideas that expand your knowledge.

www.ted.com